The Wrangler-In-Training program offers high school girls an opportunity to learn leadership and horsemanship skills. During the WIT program, WIT's will explore the areas of child development related to horse programs, program planning skills, horse operations and the role of the horseback riding specialist. The training program includes regular hours devoted to riding and training, plus actual hands-on experience working with younger girls under the supervision of riding staff. The advanced and apprentice programs open on a selective basis to those who have demonstrated competence.
